Andrew Moffat studied law, then spent two decades gaining extensive commercial, financial and governance experience across a broad range of industries, and in 2012 brought this background to the resolution of commercial disputes. He has since mediated more than 1700 matters.

His experience of getting deals done in the banking and investment banking spheres gives him invaluable insight into the expressed, unacknowledged and unconscious barriers to agreement. It arms him with the credibility, skills and flexibility to guide parties towards constructively achieving agreement, and the resilience to keep them on track whilst the possibility of resolution remains. He recognises that sometimes mediation opens a path towards resolution in the following days, and he stays committed while such opportunities remain. Andrew is very comfortable mediating using electronic platforms such as Zoom as well as in-person, or a hybrid of both, and working across cultures, including with interpreters as needed.

Andrew is a Senior Fellow in the Melbourne Law School, delivering Melbourne University's Mediation subjects in both the Juris Doctor and the Melbourne Law Masters. In 2013, he received a LEADR Practitioner Award for Significant Contribution to ADR, and he has been continuously included in Doyle's Guide to Leading Mediators since 2018. Since 2020, he has been appointed to determine banking and finance disputes as a member of AFCA's expert Panel. He received an Excellence Award for Mediation in the 2022 Australasian Law Awards.

Complementing his mediation practice, Andrew has devoted time to leadership roles in the not-for-profit sector, culminating in 12 years as Director and then Chair of Vision Australia, one of Australia's largest charities. He is an inaugural member of the Evidence Advisory Committee appointed to advise the Federal Government about NDIS supports. These roles have armed him with inside understanding into how organisations make decisions.

Andrew's appointments as Mediator have arisen in many different circumstances

- Proceedings in the Victorian and NSW Supreme Courts, County Court and District Court and the Federal Court
- Pre-litigation, by parties seeking to maximise commercial outcomes or avert proceedings
- Contractual dispute resolution clauses
- Federal and State government sponsorship to resolve organisational disputes
- Legislated mediation schemes under the Farm Debt Mediation Act and the Retail Leases Act

These disputes have all been in areas where Andrew's commercial, financial and governance experience have equipped him with credibility and insight, for example

- Contractual disputes arising from termination of supply arrangements
- Shareholder and partnership conflicts where founding principals no longer work effectively together and need to negotiate changes in ownership, or as part of generational succession
- Enforcement actions between banks, and borrowers and guarantors
- Insolvency-driven preference claims and recoveries proceedings
- Disputes between vendors and purchasers arising from sales of businesses
- Construction litigation involving contractors and sub-contractors
- Employment contractual dispute concerning confidential information and restraints
- Franchise disputes between master franchisors, and exiting and ongoing franchisees
- Conflicts within NFP or commercial Boards or between Boards and Management
- Insurance disputes such as professional negligence claims in commercial and financial contexts
- Farm debt mediations in Victoria and NSW
- Commercial landlord/tenant claims and counter-claims under the Retail Leases Act and CTRS
- Negotiation of a framework to settle several hundred past and future insurance claims
- Organisational disputes within National Sporting Organisations (via the ASC and SRV)
